

4th December 2007

GREEK VERSION OF HARTSWOOD FILMS'
HIT SERIES 'COUPLING'
GOES INTO PRODUCTION

Hartwood Films' hit BBC TV comedy series COUPLING has found a new incarnation – in Greece. The action has been moved from London to Athens and a fine cast has been assembled.

The thirteen-part Greek series is being produced by Anosi productions for the Greek broadcaster Antenna. Steven Moffat and Hartwood's Sue Vertue, who produced the UK version, are acting as consultants.

Anosi are basing the series on all of Steven Moffat's original scripts.

The format for COUPLING was also bought by Romania, who made 25 very successful and popular episodes from all four of the British series.

Russian TV has also bought options on the British format.

Meanwhile the original and award-winning British series continues to be broadcast on BBC America as well as in some 35 countries worldwide. *

For further information please contact:

Anya Noakes / Rebecca Dix, Publicists for Hartwood Films 020 7483 2005

* Iceland, Korea, Australia, USA, Canada, Bulgaria, France, Czech Rep, Thailand, Japan, Sri Lanka, Denmark, Bahrain, Israel, Croatia, Hungary, Ukraine, Latvia, Singapore, South Africa, Italy, Germany, Romania, Norway, Yugoslavia, Portugal, Spain, Holland, Hong Kong, Sweden, Finland, New Zealand, Russia, Albania, Belgium...